

Stopping Smoking:Ongoing support fromyour pharmacy

Trying to stop smoking is one of the best decisions you can make for your own health, the health of your baby and your finances.

Help with giving up smoking

Whatever your reasons for stopping smoking, we are here to support you all the way.

How does it work?

We are testing providing stop smoking support in some local pharmacies

- Support is available to:
- Individuals trying to conceive,
- Pregnant individuals,
- Individuals who have a child less than 12 months old
- Household members.
- You can be referred or you can self-refer

You can choose the pharmacy you want to support you.

All pharmacies offering the service have a trained person available to help you with your quit attempt.

You may prefer one that is closest to your home or place of work, or one that offers more flexible opening hours.

What happens when I am referred?

A referral will be sent by a healthcare professional to a pharmacy offering the maternity stop smoking support.

The pharmacy will attempt to contact you at least 3 times to arrange a convenient appointment, either face-toface, by telephone or video call.

If you have not heard from your chosen pharmacy in 5 days, please contact them directly on the phone number listed.

How do I self-refer?

All you need to do is visit or ring the pharmacy and speak to a member of staff about accessing the maternity stop smoking support and they will assist you.

How will we use your information?

We will only use your personal information when we need it, to manage your care safely.
