

Two Non-Executive Directors

Candidate briefing pack

May 2026

Welcome from the Chair

Thank you for your interest in joining Hertfordshire Community NHS Trust (HCT) as a non-executive director (NED). I am delighted that you are considering bringing your skills, insight and values to our Board at a pivotal moment for community health services in Hertfordshire.

Our Trust plays a vital role in delivering high-quality, compassionate care close to home – supporting people to live healthier, more independent lives. Community services are where prevention, integration and personalised care meet, and the strength of our Board is central to ensuring we meet the needs of our patients, carers and communities now and in the future.

Having successfully recruited to one Non-Executive Director position earlier this year, we are now seeking to appoint two more NEDs with complementary areas of expertise. What unites both roles is a genuine commitment to patients and the promotion of excellent, safe and equitable healthcare services, alongside the confidence to provide constructive challenge and thoughtful support at Board level.

For both NED roles, we are ideally looking for candidates who have a strong connection to Hertfordshire or the surrounding area.

One role is focused on financial leadership and assurance and we anticipate that the role will chair the Audit & Risk committee. While relevant finance experience gained within a large and complex organisation may be beneficial, we are keen to hear from candidates who bring experience at Board level in areas such as strategy, transformation and commercial roles.

The successful candidate will play a key role in ensuring robust governance and financial sustainability.

The second role will be for an individual to chair our Strategy, Involvement and Planning Committee as well as our Charitable Funds Committee.

We welcome applications from individuals with Board level experience in either the private, public or VCFSE sector; someone who is a strategic thinker and demonstrates a commitment to partnership working.

Additional digital, AI, data security skills would be beneficial as we drive to improve our service delivery and patient outcomes through digital innovation and transformation.

As Chair, I am proud of the culture we are building – one grounded in openness, collaboration and shared accountability. Our NEDs are valued partners in shaping strategy, upholding standards and ensuring that the voices of patients and communities are heard at the highest level.

Our new 2026-2030 strategy

HCT is entering a pivotal phase in its development. National policy, population need and our own proven capability all point to the same conclusion: community services are central to the future of the NHS.

Our 2026–2030 strategy sets out how we will advance the shift of care closer to home, from sickness to prevention, and from analogue to digital, delivering high-quality, equitable and sustainable care for the communities we serve.

As a specialist community provider, we occupy a unique position within the system. We support people across their life course, often in their own homes, at moments of greatest vulnerability and opportunity. Our strategy builds on this strength, committing us to design services around people and places rather than organisational boundaries, focusing on reducing health inequalities, and working in partnership across health, care, education and the voluntary sector.

We will use data, technology and innovation to support people earlier, prevent deterioration, and provide hospital-level care safely in community settings where this delivers better outcomes and experiences.

Our strategy is grounded in extensive co-design with staff, service users and partners, and is deliberately ambitious.

It focuses on five strategic aims: delivering high-quality, equitable and sustainable care; driving proactive and preventative care; working in partnership to meet communities' needs; making HCT a great place to work; and continuously improving, innovating and embracing technology.

Together, these aims position HCT to respond to rising demand, financial pressures and workforce challenges while continuing to improve outcomes for our population. Read the full strategy here.

Our values

Alongside the new strategy, we have refreshed our organisational values to ensure they reflect both who we are today and who we aspire to be.

Through wide engagement, three values clearly emerged as fundamental to our future: Caring, Pioneering and Inclusive.

Being Caring means putting service users, families and colleagues at the heart of every decision, recognising the privilege of being invited into people's lives and acting with compassion, professionalism and integrity. Being Pioneering reflects our commitment to lead change in community healthcare – embracing innovation and new ways of working to improve outcomes, efficiency and experience.

Being Inclusive means actively valuing diversity, tackling inequality and ensuring that everyone who uses our services or works for HCT feels seen, heard and respected.

For our Board, these values are not abstract principles. They shape how we govern, how we lead improvement, how we hold ourselves to account and how we work with partners and communities.

We are seeking NEDs who are aligned to this strategic ambition and values-led culture, and who will bring independent challenge, insight and stewardship to help us deliver our vision over the next five years.

Our strategy aims to deliver against four areas of focus which are reflected in our Delivery Plan. They are:

- Continue to integrate and improve our Adult Unplanned Care services, working collaboratively with partners to reduce A&E attendances and non-elective admissions, contributing to the ICB target to reduce emergency admissions for frail people and those in the last year of life by 25%.
- Improving patient access and experience when interacting with our services, increasing utilisation and addressing inequalities in access.
- Improving children's outcomes through collaborative working and pathway / service development, supporting the 'best start in life'.
- Development of a more sustainable HCT operating model, with improvement in quality management and productivity, ensuring HCT remains a great place to work.

Equity, diversity and inclusion

Our Equity, Diversity and Inclusion Strategy builds on our Clinical and People strategies, setting out our five ED&I strategic priorities, which are:

Priority 1: To strengthen our channels for listening to the diverse voices of our staff

Priority 2: To develop continually our understanding of our local communities

Priority 3: To improve identification of access, experience and outcomes for under-served groups

Priority 4: To have a workforce that is representative at all levels

Priority 5: To be recognised externally as a Trust committed to promoting diversity.

We are always striving to improve and routinely review progress made across the priority areas to ensure our actions continue to deliver meaningful and sustained impact.

As part of our ongoing commitment to equity, fairness and organisational learning, we have taken several important steps to strengthen our policies and practices. These include updating and renewing our Disciplinary Policy, introducing a Sexual Safety Charter, and implementing a Race Hate Standard Operating Procedure to ensure a clear and consistent approach when responding to incidents and concerns.

We have also introduced inclusive recruitment training to support fairer and more equitable recruitment practices across the organisation.

Alongside this, we have re-introduced Community Engagement Forums to improve the way we engage with, listen to and work alongside the diverse communities we serve.

HCT has set up an innovative Shadow Board which provides an opportunity for members of the workforce to contribute to Board decision-making, learn Board-level operations and contribute to the shaping of the strategy.

Aimed at those under-represented at Board-level, members of our Shadow Board bring a richness to discussions, provide different perspectives and help to diversify leadership pipelines.

Together, these actions support our ambition to foster an inclusive workplace culture, reduce inequalities, and strengthen trust and relationships with our staff and communities.

Our reports and plans to further promote diversity and inclusion can be found on our website here.

Board Activities

Person specification

General information

The best boards are those that reflect the workforce and communities they serve. We particularly welcome applications from women, people from local black, Asian and minority ethnic communities, and people with disabilities, who we know are all under-represented in these important roles.

- Applicants would ideally have connections with the area served by the Trust.
- On average this role will require the equivalent to 2 to 5 days a month, however the time commitment may vary and a flexible approach should be taken.
- The remuneration payable for this role is £13,000 (standard rate for all NEDs) per annum.

Given the significant public profile and responsibility members of NHS Boards hold, it is vital that those appointed inspire confidence of the public, patients and NHS staff at all times. NHS England and the Trust make a number of specific background checks to ensure that those we appoint are “fit and proper” people to hold these important roles.

Desirable skills and experience

You will need to have a genuine commitment to patients and the promotion of excellent health care services. You will have senior level experience in one or more of the following areas:

ROLE 1:

- Recent and relevant, senior level experience in a large and complex organisation with the capacity to chair the Audit and Risk Committee. Candidates must have significant financial experience, be highly numerate and analytical.

ROLE 2:

- Experience of chairing committees or boards and the ability to effectively contribute to the wider board agenda. Knowledge of public health, population health, addressing inequalities and the broader EDI agenda will be beneficial.

For both roles, we are particularly keen to hear from individuals with:

- A wider range of experiences that may include senior commercial experience at a strategic level in digital transformation, AI or data security.
- Senior/Board level experience of working with, or within, the VCFSE sector, bringing insight into partnership working and community engagement.
