

Keep Yourself healthy

a guide to examining your breasts

This booklet will tell you how to check your breasts regularly for early signs of cancer.

This is important for all women, because if you develop breast cancer and it is found early enough there is a good chance that it can be treated.

You will also be given some tips on staying healthy, which can help prevent breast cancer.

Get used to the way your breasts look normally.

Look at yourself with your arms down at your sides.

Then with your arms up in the air.

Check your breasts regularly, in places where you can be private...

...like the shower...

...or the bedroom.

How to check your breasts for anything unusual:

Feel around the breast in a circular motion.

Then, feel under your arm.

Finally, feel behind the nipple.

What to do if you find something new.

If you are checking yourself and you find something that wasn't there before...

...arrange to see your doctor or community nurse. They will know what to do.
