Quality Improvement Partner Panels

A new way for your voice to improve the quality of health and care services

Quality Improvement Partner Panels (QulPPs) will support the work of health and social care organisations, ensuring the voice of the public is involved in improvement projects.

The aim of the panels is to provide support and advice to health and social care teams working on a range of quality improvement projects. These may be small improvements on wards, or in general practice and community settings, or on strategic planning for system-wide implementation.

Anybody can apply, and those who are successful in completing the training programme will become a QulPPs member.

To apply, please send an email in the first instance stating what skills and experience you have that will benefit the QulPPs. If you have a CV or pen portrait, please include it, but don't worry if you don't.

Email: quipp@swahsn.com

Applications for membership are open at any time, however you must apply before noon, 3 September to join the 2018 training programme.

Great training to get involved

In order to help you get the most out of being a member of the QulPPs group, you will begin by attending four training days in quality improvement.

- A brilliant team supporting you to get involved
- Being able to share your talents and experience with the NHS
- Knowing that you are making a difference and contributing to improvements
- Be involved in an exciting change movement within the NHS and social care

Following the training, you will become an active member of both an online community with other quality improvement partners, and also have the opportunity to join other quality improvement teams across the South West of England.

All training costs will be met and expenses covered to undertake this role.

Time commitment for QulPPs Members

For new members, there is an initial four-day training programme. Should you qualify, you will be invited to become a full panel member.

Panel members are asked to commit four hours a month: 1.5 hours to read any emails and papers connected to the QulPPs work, and 2.5 hours to attend an online video conference.

There will also be one annual celebration event and refresher training session. All panel members will be required to attend.
