

STATISTICAL PRESS NOTICE

MONTHLY DELAYED TRANSFERS OF CARE DATA, ENGLAND, November 2017

Main Findings – November 2017:

Delayed Transfers of Care

- There were 155,100 total delayed days in November 2017, of which 99,500 were in acute care. This is a decrease from November 2016, where there were 193,200 total delayed days, of which 127,700 were in acute care.
- The 155,100 total delayed days in November 2017 is equivalent to 5,169 daily DTOC beds. This compares to 5,487 in October 2017 and 6,440 in November 2016. This is the lowest number of DTOC beds since January 2016, when the number of DTOC beds was 5,144.
- 58.3% of all delays in November 2017 were attributable to the NHS, 34.0% were attributable to Social Care and the remaining 7.6% were attributable to both NHS and Social Care.
- The proportion of delays attributable to Social Care has decreased over the last year to 34.0% in November 2017, compared to 34.8% in November 2016.
- The main reason for NHS delays in November 2017 was “Patients Awaiting further Non Acute NHS Care”. This accounted for 25,300 delayed days (27.9% of all NHS delays). The number of delays attributable to this reason showed a general increase between July 2015 and April 2016, before levelling off for several months. Following a large decrease in April 2017, the number remained relatively stable until August 2017, when it saw a further decrease. The figure has continued to steadily decrease.
- The main reason for Social Care delays in November 2017 was “Patients Awaiting Care Package in their Own Home”. This accounted for 18,700 delayed days (35.4% of all Social Care delays), compared to 24,400 in November 2016. The number of delays attributable to this reason had been increasing steadily since February 2015 and reached a peak in December 2016. Delays attributable to this reason have been gradually decreasing since March 2017.
- Delays can occur in either an acute or non-acute care setting. The proportion of delays occurring in acute care in November 2017 was 64.1% compared to 66.1% in November 2016.

Table 1 shows information on delayed transfers of care from November 2014 to November 2017.

Statistical Notes to Editors

1. Delayed Transfers of Care data

A delayed transfer of care occurs when a patient is medically fit for discharge from acute or non-acute care and is still occupying a bed. For a more detailed definition please read the guidance on NHS England's website at:
<http://www.england.nhs.uk/statistics/delayed-transfers-of-care/>

The daily DTOC beds measure is calculated by dividing the total number of delayed days in the month by the number of calendar days.

As of April 2017, the count of patients delayed on the last Thursday of the month is no longer being collected. Historical data for this measure will remain available on the NHS England Statistics website.

Data on delayed transfers of care is collected from providers of NHS funded care and is split by:

- Local Authority that is responsible for each patient delayed
- Agency responsible for delay (NHS, Social Services or both)
- Type of care that the patient receives (acute or non-acute)
- Reason for delay

A detailed breakdown of the data can be found on NHS England's website in CSV format at:

<https://www.england.nhs.uk/statistics/statistical-work-areas/delayed-transfers-of-care/delayed-transfers-of-care-data-2017-18/>

2. Trust and Local Authority level data

Delayed transfers of care data covers NHS patients in English Hospitals, who may or may not reside in England and is published on both a trust and Local Authority basis.

Trust level reflects data at organisation level for those organisations that provide NHS funded care, for example acute Trusts, community providers, mental health trusts and Social Enterprise organisations.

Local Authority data reflects data on a regional population basis, i.e. Councils with Adult Social Services Responsibility (CASSRs) that are responsible for all patients who reside in their region.

3. Data Quality

Monthly delayed transfers of care data has been collected and published since August 2010. Prior to August 2010, data was collected weekly and was un-validated management information.

Delayed transfers of care data published during the early months of the collection from August 2010 to October 2010 should be treated with a degree of caution as a change from a weekly to a monthly data collection led to data quality issues. Since October 2010, there has been a significant improvement in the coverage and accuracy of this data.

Bridgewater Community Healthcare NHS Trust (RY2) were unable to submit a return this month due to data quality issues.

4. Data Availability

Delayed Transfers of Care data is published approximately six weeks after the end of the reference period. The next publication of this report and accompanying data will be 8th February, 2018.

5. Revisions

Revisions to previous month's data are made in line with NHS England's revisions protocol for performance monitoring data. Future revisions will be made on a six monthly cycle. The revisions protocol can be found on the NHS England website at: <http://www.england.nhs.uk/statistics/code-compliance/>
