

NHS England Excellence in Participation Awards 2013/4

Short Summary

The NHS England Excellence in Participation Awards celebrate the great work of people and organisations across England.

They are changing people's lives and making health and care services better.

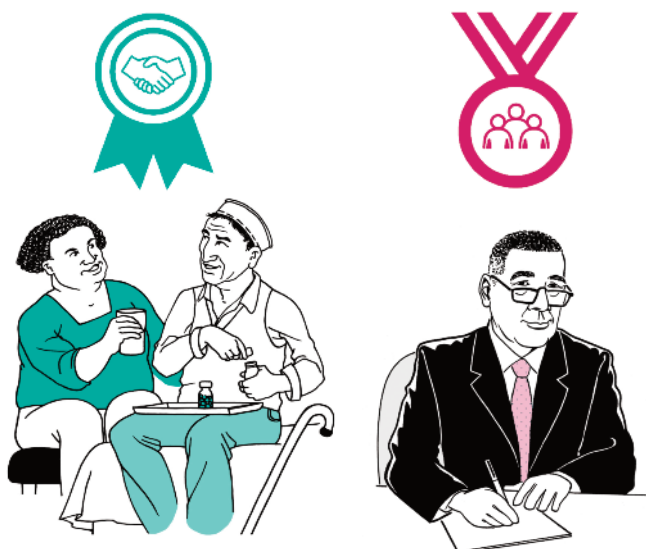

They are putting patients, carers and communities at the centre of health and care.

There are different awards which show and celebrate the great things people and organisations have done.

These awards include a Participant of the Year Award and a Children's and Young People's Award for Excellence.

There are also awards for people who provide the services and commissioners for good work in both public and personal involvement.

NHS England Excellence in Participation Awards 2013/4

Longer Summary

The NHS England Excellence in Participation Awards celebrate the great work of people and organisations across England.

They are changing people's lives and making health and care services better.

They are putting patients, carers and communities at the centre of health and care.

The Awards will add to the belief in quality and good work done by people and organisations who are involved in health and care.

This can then be celebrated and shared around England.

There are different awards which show and celebrate the great things people and organisations have done.

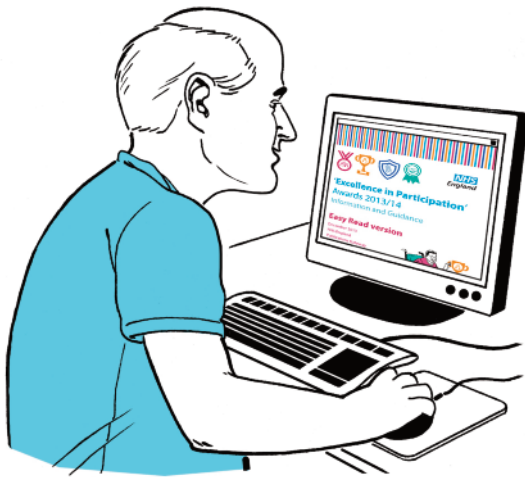

A people's choice category will celebrate individual patients, service users, carers and members of the public who have helped to make services or experiences better. This includes children and young people and also celebrates organisations who have encouraged more people to volunteer in health and care services.

The final judging panel will have NHS staff and patients / service users / carers or other people who use services on it.

Winners will be named on 3rd March 2014 at the UK's leading healthcare conference in Manchester called the Health Innovation EXPO 2014.
