

Building the right support

A national plan

Introductions

Katie Matthews

Learning disability network manager

Anthony Houlden

Commissioning policy manager

What is this presentation about?

This presentation explains the national plan for changing services in England

This means changing the way that people with behaviours that challenge are supported

Who wrote the plan?

The Association of Directors of Adult Social Services and

Local Government Association and

NHS England wrote this guide.

What do you want to change?

The government's plan is to spend more money on supporting people at home so some hospitals can close.

People with a learning disability and/or autism have the same rights as everyone else

What can local areas do to change care for people?

1. Move people out of hospital who should not be there.

2. Have the right services to support people where they live.

3. Stop people going into hospital unless they really need to.

How can we make this happen?

We want people in local councils and the NHS to work together to improve things.

These people will come together and create Transforming Care Partnerships.

These Transforming Care Partnerships will work with local people to say how they will change local services

What will happen next?

April 2016
Mon	Tue	Wed	Thu	Fri	Sat	Sun
				1	2	3
4	5	6	7	8	9	10
11	12	13	14	15	16	17
18	19	20	21	22	23	24
25	26	27	28	29	30

- Transforming Care Partnerships must write a plan for their area and start to make changes by April 2016
- They must make the changes by March 2019.

- Each local area will have its own ideas. But they must follow the government's guide for what should be in the plan.
- In 2018 the government will check how much has changed and see if we should do even more.

How do we get people involved?

To make this change we want people to be listened to and involved to make decisions about services.

We need people with lots of different experiences to be involved

We want to know how best we can involve people in local decisions?

