- 1.1 Led by the Chief Pharmaceutical Officer for England, Dr Keith Ridge, the office of the Chief Pharmaceutical Officer at NHS England and NHS Improvement works across the NHS system and a wide range of public and professional stakeholders to support the development of clinical pharmacy practice to ensure the best outcomes from medicines.
- 1.2 The office works collaboratively across NHS England and NHS Improvement, and the wider healthcare system (including the Department for Health and Social Care, Health Education England, Public Health England, NHX and NHS Digital) to provide professional leadership and ensure alignment of purpose and delivery of a range of programmes and initiatives. These include:
 - medicines optimisation, and medicines policy more generally, which aims to secure better outcomes and value for patients from £20.9 billion pa spent on medicines
 - transforming the pharmacy team's role in support of the NHS Long Term Plan
 - support the roll out of clinical pharmacists in primary care networks

 - reforming the education and training of pharmacists and pharmacy technicians, alongside workforce planning for the whole pharmacy workforce
 - ensuring equality, diversity and inclusion within the profession
 - supporting specific clinical or public health issues across the NHS Long Term Plan domains, for example antimicrobial resistance, improving medicines use for children, people with mental health problems, people with learning difficulties, and those with long term conditions, and Controlled Drugs governance
 - overseeing and developing a robust professional network across the health system.

NHS England and NHS Improvement

- 1.3 The Inclusive Pharmacy Practice (IPP) Advisory Board has been established following a programme of work to develop a plan for pharmacy organisations and professionals to embed inclusive pharmacy practice into their work. It is chaired by the Chief Pharmaceutical Officer for England.
- 1.4 On 5 August 2020 NHS England and NHS Improvement (NHSE&I), the Royal Pharmaceutical Society (RPS) and the Association of Pharmacy Technicians UK (APTUK) held a joint roundtable for national pharmacy organisations and other stakeholders.
- 1.5 Following the roundtable, a Joint National Statement of Principles on Inclusive Pharmacy Professional Practice was developed and published on 25 September 2020. From this, the Joint National Plan for Inclusive Pharmacy Practice was coproduced by the Chief Pharmaceutical Officer's team at NHSE&I, the RPS and APTUK, working with partners across the pharmacy sector, and published on 10 March 2021.
- 1.6 The IPP plan is a united response to the two Public Health England (PHE) reports Beyond the data and Disparities in the risk and outcomes of COVID-19 confirming that COVID-19 has had a disproportionate impact on staff and communities from Black, Asian and Minority Ethnic backgrounds. The reports recommend targeted health promotion, access to healthcare resources and addressing social and structural disparities that contribute to health inequalities.
- 1.7 The plan initially begins with a Black, Asian and Minority Ethnic focus because across other protected characteristics and factors that shape our identity age, disability, sex, sexual orientation, pregnancy and maternity, education, career progression and geographical location there are ethnic and racial disparities.
- 1.8 It is also important to note there are differences in experiences and outcomes among people from Black, Asian and Minority Ethnic backgrounds including pharmacy students, trainees and professionals.

Objectives for the IPP Advisory Board

- 1.9 As part of the process to support the development and implementation of the IPP plan, the Board will:
- Provide thought leadership to the Chief Pharmaceutical Officer and the pharmacy senior leadership Pharmacy Advisory Group (PAG) at NHSE&I.

- Guide and advise on the work of the IPP Stakeholder Advisory Group and the implementation and goals of the Joint National Plan for IPP.
- Review progress updates on implementation of the Joint National Plan for IPP.
- Advise the NHSE&I Pharmacy PAG IPP Working Group.
- Oversee the evaluation of the Joint National Plan for IPP.

Appointees will contribute their leadership experience and their lived experience to the work of the Board.
- 1.11 This process forms part of NHSE&I's commitment to create a positive culture of dignity and respect for all individuals including staff, patients, their families and carers as well as community partners. The intention is to promote positive practice and value the diversity of all individuals and communities and to identify, remove or minimise discriminatory practice.
