1. Introduction

1.1 Foreword

- 1.1.1 NHS England (NHSE) has set out the following as the four core purposes of Integrated Care Systems (ICSs):
- a) improve outcomes in population health and healthcare
 - b) tackle inequalities in outcomes, experience and access
 - c) enhance productivity and value for money
 - d) help the NHS support broader social and economic development.
- 1.1.2 The Integrated Care Board (ICB) will use its resources and powers to achieve demonstrable progress on these aims, collaborating to tackle complex challenges, including:
- improving the health of children and young people
 - supporting people to stay well and independent
 - acting sooner to help those with preventable conditions
 - supporting those with long-term conditions or mental health issues
 - caring for those with multiple needs as populations age
 - getting the best from collective resources so people get care as quickly as possible.
- 1.1.3 The ICB is a statutory body charged with specific legal duties and functions and there is no legal connection between the ICB Constitution and the separate Constitutions of other organisations in the ICS. The Constitution does not replace or override the legal and regulatory frameworks that apply to our partner organisation. Instead, it sits alongside and complements these frameworks, creating the foundations for closer and more formal collaboration.
- 1.1.4 The arrangements described in this Constitution describe how we organise ourselves together to provide the best health and care, ensuring that decisions are always taken in the interest of the patients and populations we serve.
- 1.1.5 The Constitution is underpinned by the duty that requires NHS bodies to consider the effects of their decisions on the health and wellbeing of the people of England, the quality of services and the sustainable and efficient use of resources.
- 1.1.6 The NHS Lancashire and South Cumbria Integrated Care Board will establish a mutual accountability with partners around the triple aims for systems:
- Improving the health and wellbeing of the people of Lancashire and South Cumbria

- Improving the quality of healthcare provided or arranged by both ourselves and other relevant bodies
- Achieving sustainable and efficient use of resources by both ourselves and other relevant bodies

1.4.6 The ICB is subject to an annual assessment of its performance by NHS England which is also required to publish a report containing a summary of the results of its assessment.

- a) section 14Z34 (improvement in quality of services)
- b) section 14Z35 (reducing inequalities)

- a) Decision-making will be focused towards meeting the statutory duties of ICBs at all times, including the triple aim. Any individual involved in decisions relating to ICB functions must be acting clearly in the interests of the ICB and of the public, rather than furthering direct or indirect financial, personal, professional or organisational interests.
- b) For all decisions, the ICB will carefully consider whether an individual's role in another organisation could result in actual or perceived conflicts of interest and whether or not that outweighs the value of the knowledge they bring to the process.
- c) The personal and professional interests of all ICB board members, ICB committee members and ICB staff who are involved in decision taking will be declared, recorded and managed appropriately in accordance with the ICB's Conflict of Interest Policy.
- d) If a material interest is declared, then it will be considered to what extent this material interest affects the balance of the discussion and decision-making process. In doing so the ICB will ensure conflicts of interest (and potential conflicts of interest) do not, (and do not appear), to affect the integrity of the ICB's decision making processes.
- e) The ICB will consider the composition of decision-making forums and clearly distinguish between:
 - those individuals who should be involved in formal decision taking; and
 - those whose input informs decisions.
- f) Whilst considering the perspective the individual brings and the value they add to both discussions around particular decisions and in actually taking part in the decision including the ability to shape the ICB's understanding of how best to meet patients' needs and deliver care for their populations.
- g) Actions to mitigate conflicts of interests will be proportionate, balanced and transparent to preserve the spirit of collective decision-making wherever possible and the management of such will contribute to a culture of transparency about how decisions are made.

- h) Where decisions are being taken as part of a formal competitive procurement of services, the ICB will ensure that any individual who is associated with an organisation that has a vested interest in the procurement recluses themselves from the process.
- i) The ICB's Conflict of Interest Policy will provide guidance on the declaration, consideration, management, and publication of any conflicts of interest.

9 Arrangements for public involvement

9.1.1 In line with section 14Z45(2) of the 2006 Act the ICB has made arrangements to secure that individuals to whom services which are, or are to be, provided pursuant to arrangements made by the ICB in the exercise of its functions, and their carers and representatives, are involved (whether by being consulted or provided with information or in other ways) in:

- a) the planning of the commissioning arrangements by the ICB
- b) the development and consideration of proposals by the ICB for changes in the commissioning arrangements where the implementation of the proposals would have an impact on the manner in which the services are delivered to the individuals (at the point when the service is received by them), or the range of health services available to them
- c) decisions of the ICB affecting the operation of the commissioning arrangements where the implementation of the decisions would (if made) have such an impact.

9.1.2 In line with section 14Z54 of the 2006 Act the ICB has made the following arrangements to consult its population on its system plan:

- a) to ensure that the plan reflects the views of local people we will carry out engagement and involvement activities which may include activities such as surveys and focus groups
- b) this will sit alongside engagement and consultation mapping which will demonstrate the work that has taken place in our local places and across the Lancashire and South Cumbria system.

9.1.3 The ICB has adopted the ten principles set out by NHS England for working with people and communities:

- a) put the voices of people and communities at the centre of decision-making and governance, at every level of the ICS
- b) start engagement early when developing plans and feed back to people and communities how it has influenced activities and decisions
- c) understand your community's needs, experience and aspirations for health and care, using engagement to find out if change is having the desired effect
- d) build relationships with excluded groups – especially those affected by inequalities
- e) work with Healthwatch and the voluntary, community and social enterprise sector as key partners
- f) provide clear and accessible public information about vision, plans and progress to build understanding and trust
- g) use community development approaches that empower people and communities, making connections to social action

- h) use co-production, insight and engagement to achieve accountable health and care services
- i) co-produce and redesign services and tackle system priorities in partnership with people and communities
- j) learn from what works and build on the assets of all partners in the ICS – networks, relationships, activity in local places.

9.1.4 In addition, the ICB has agreed the following:

- a) In Lancashire and South Cumbria, the ICB will work with partners across the system to ensure a common strategic approach for working with people and communities. To complement this, and to ensure the ICB meets its statutory requirements, the ICB will develop a strategy for working with people and communities. This will set out how the system-wide common strategic approach will be embedded within the ICB, detailing involvement, engagement and co-production approaches for the ICB.
- b) Public Involvement is an essential part of making sure that effective and efficient health and care services are delivered. By reaching, listening to, involving and empowering our people and communities, we can ensure that they are at the heart of decision making. The ICB is committed to putting our population's needs at the heart of all we do. Our vision to put people at the centre is based on the understanding that engaged and involved residents make best use of services to support their own health and wellbeing, which we believe will assist in addressing health inequalities in Lancashire and South Cumbria.
- c) We will work across different geographies within Lancashire and South Cumbria using a range of methods and channels to ensure we have strong, coordinated and triangulated public involvement for the ICB. This will include working in neighbourhoods, places and across the whole system.
- d) We will facilitate engagement and involvement that supports achieving improvements in population health, working with targeted cohorts of residents around specific initiatives. We will establish research-based methods to capture insight from local residents in a planned and structured way to gain a greater understanding of any concerns or challenges that are facing our communities.
- e) We will ensure that the voice of our residents influences and shapes our priorities, plans and programmes of work and that public involvement is embedded within our governance arrangements.

9.1.5 These principles will be used when developing and maintaining arrangements for engaging with people and communities.
